Trinity Financial Teams Up With “Catholic Athletes for Christ”

Wall, NJ: Peter Grandich, Managing Member of Trinity Financial Sports & Entertainment Management Company (TFSEM), has been appointed to the Board of Directors of “Catholic Athletes for Christ,” (CAC) a national non-profit organization whose vision is to provide solid Catholic role models and serve Catholic athletes, coaches and staff. Mr. Grandich will be actively working with other board members including: Mike Piazza, twelve-time major all-star catcher; Mike Sweeney, captain of the Kansas City Royals; Jeff Suppan of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals; and David Eckstein, also of the St. Louis Cardinals, and the 2006 World Series MVP.

“I’ve been truly blessed these last several years to work with many current and former professional athletes who desire to share their faith. As a Catholic, I’m especially pleased to now have the additional opportunity to help expand this wonderful platform athletes have to reach the public,” said Grandich.

“My greatest dream is to see all Christians unified as one, as the world needs God’s love now more than ever,” he added.

“We are thrilled to have Peter join our Catholic Athletes for Christ Board of Directors. His experience, enthusiasm and, above all, his sincere desire to promote the Kingdom of God in and through CAC, are a welcome blessing to our organization,” said CAC founder Ray McKenna.
